ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETED FOR FALL FESTIVAL

College of Agriculture to Hold Annual Event at 7:30 o'clock Tonight

TWO NEW BUILDINGS WILL BE INSPECTED

Program Includes Livestock Exhibition, Pledging, Music and Dancing

With the preparations practically completed, the College of Agriculture will hold its annual fall festival at 7:30 tonight at the livestock judging pavilion on the experiment station farm. The program has been increased over those of previous years by the addition of the inspection of the new Dairy and Agricultural Engineering buildings.

The festival, sometimes known as the "little international" is held each year before the livestock of the experiment station farm is shipped to Chicago for the International Live Stock Exposition. These animals are exhibited at the festival in order that people may judge for themselves the work that the farm is doing.

The exhibition of the livestock, together with the main program of the evening which will be held in the judging pavilion, will follow the general inspection of the new buildings. In the Dairy building all the machinery that is installed there will be in operation and instructors and guides will be stationed to furnish explanations. The divisions of dairy processes to be shown will include pasteurization, cooling, churning, the printing of butter, and testing. Butter will be served to those who desire it.

In the Agricultural Engineering building the machinery has been placed conveniently in order to explain more explicitly the development of machinery in farm use today. The development of the plow is shown by one of the first mule plows used in Kentucky in contrast to the modern riding and tractor plows. Other machinery will be shown and guides will attempt to answer any questions asked about it. Some machines will be in operation, the hydraulic ram and the blue print maker. Another important phase of agriculture to be shown is the work of the College of Agriculture on land drainage, an important work of the college.

The main program, of which Hyman Levy is ring-master, will be divided into two parts with a 15 minute intermission between the divisions. Music will be rendered by the university band, whose performance will open the program. There will follow the pledging of Phi Upsilon Omicron, honorary sorority of the home economics department and Alpha Zeta, honorary agriculture fraternity. There will be a solo by a Block and Bridge pledge which will be followed by the livestock exhibit and tap dancing. The second part of the program will feature the sheep exhibit, the announcement of winners of the state fair judging contest, a lesson in nutrition, pledging by Block and Bridge, a Rhapsody in Black, the exhibit of the beef cattle, and the presentation of a medal to the freshman who made the highest standing in the College of Agriculture last year.

Pan Hellenic Council, Y.M. Plan Fraternity Banquet for Pledges

The second annual interfraternity pledge banquet will be held at 6 o'clock Tuesday night in the Training school cafeteria. Final arrangements are now being made by a committee composed of William Shafer and Cameron Coffman, representing the senior cabinet of the Y. M. C. A.

The banquet is being sponsored by the Men's Pan-Hellenic council and the cabinets of the Y. M. C. A. Last year a similar affair was sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. and was held in the Training school cafeteria which was attended by approximately 60 pledges and members of the Y. M. C. A. Arrangements are being made for approximately 85 pledges of the different fraternities and Y. M. C. A. members at the banquet this year.

Pres. Frank L. McVey will be the principal speaker of the evening. The topic of his talk will be on "The Ideal Fraternity." Negotiations are now under way to secure some other speaker to speak on "The Ideal Fraternity Man."

PITKIN CLUB MEETS

The weekly meeting of the Pitkin club was held at 12 o'clock Wednesday in the Maxwell Presbyterian church under the direction of Dr. Howard M. Morgan. "What the Bible Has to Say about Everyday Problems" was the subject of Doctor Morgan's talk.

Rutgers and Princeton were the first colleges to play football and Columbia was third, with Yale fourth and Harvard fifth.

EXHIBITION OF MODERN TEXTILE DESIGNS SHOWN

Creations by Ruth Reeves, Henrietta Reiss, Donald Deskey, and Other Artists Are on Display at University Art Center; Will Close Monday.
November 30

By LAWRENCE HERRON
Extolling, belittling, or ignoring, students of the university, reviewing the field of American art—judging from expressions of individual opinion—have too often limited its scope to the art of the brush and the mallet. The field of designing has been overlooked.

The display of modern textile designs now showing at the art center offers a new angle of consideration. Exhibiting creations by Ruth Reeves, Henrietta Reiss, Donald Deskey, and other recognized leaders in the field, this collection of American cotton textiles, sponsored by the American Federation of Arts, was opened to the public last Thursday and will remain at the university until Monday, November 30.

Selections on view at the art center galleries are materials lately featured as part of the third International Exhibition of Industrial Arts. This assemblage of textile works was exhibited in museums throughout the country. According to Prof. Edward W. Rannels, head of the department of art, they attracted widespread attention.

The current grouping of textiles, ranging in execution from hand prints to machine weaves, from draperies to dress goods, offers a most complete survey of the craft. Modernistic abstractions vie with conventionalized forms for attention. Forceful, "mannish" designs, romantic, feminine designs, period designs developed in the manner of today, conservative designs, disturbing designs, all offer the reviewer every mood of emotion.

Preminent among the gallery's attractions are the prints of Ruth Reeves executed by W. and J. Sloane. Probably the most outstanding, surely the best known, of her designs—perhaps of the display—is "Green Pastures." In yellow and shades of green on airplane cloth, a very fine, flat textured stuff, it is drafted in the pictured abstractions typical of modern designs. The rural forms of sheep, barns, trees, and flowers are clearly present but fade into the forcefulness of the design itself.

As a design the presentation is perfect. The abstraction and expanse of the design unit allow the inevitable folds of a drapery or

PERSHING RIFLES HOLDS INITIATION

Honorary Basic Military Fraternity Also Conducts Fall Pledging Exercises at Regular Drill Period

Pershing Rifles, national honorary basic military fraternity, held its annual fall initiation Thursday, with the initiation of H. E. Bierly, J. K. Keys, J. R. Nunnally, F. C. Dye, and J. E. Hocker. Membership in the organization is based upon proficiency in military work.

Wednesday, November 18, formal pledging exercises were held at the regular drill period. A. J. Stokely, H. G. Crowden, W. H. Bryant, L. L. Richards, C. Johnson, J. J. Wheat, C. A. Payne, J. L. Carter, L. H. Cloyd, H. G. Holdrick, F. M. Baker, W. Hornhorst, S. E. Langfitt, W. K. Massie, J. W. Platt, H. E. Clo, J. A. Styles, J. M. Crain, T. A. Livingston, F. L. Longley, R. P. Fulcher, T. C. Wagner, D. V. Weddle, R. W. Gum, D. Gordon, and J. E. Campbell. Initiation for the new pledges will be held at the beginning of the next semester.

From now until the Regimental drill meet next Spring, the drill periods will be spent in preparation for competition in the annual competitive drill of the national organization. This meet is held at the University of Illinois.

An invitation has been extended to all the members of Company C, of the university, by Company A, University of Ohio, to attend its annual fall formal which will be held tonight. The 12 members expecting to make the trip will be the guests of the Ohio chapter at the Ohio-Illinois game Saturday.

Professors Select Delegate at Meeting

The American Association of University Professors met at 7:15 o'clock Monday night in room 129 of McVey Hall. The members were addressed by Prof. J. W. Martin and Prof. R. H. Clyde. Dr. O. T. Kopp, secretary-treasurer of the organization was selected as the delegate to attend the national convention to be held November 27 and 28 in Chicago.

The Kentucky branch of the association, which is open to all members of the university teaching staff, has a membership of 95, 50 of whom were present at the meeting Monday night.

Professor Martin and Professor Clyde both spoke on the functions of committees of the national association and their connection with academic freedom and tenure. Illustrative material for both speeches was taken from the H. H. Miller case at Ohio State University. Following the addresses, an open discussion was held.

hanging without destroying the effect. But to him seeking an association between the name, "Green Pastures," and the design the present color scheme is unfortunate. Visualizing the refreshing tones of a country heath, he finds a sere yellow and a brackish green. However, this piece, as are most of those on exhibition, is planned for execution in other colors as well. Apart from this ill-looked for association the design must be more pleasing to the average student.

"Play Boy," rivaling "Green Pastures" in importance, in black, red, and gray on a rugged Monk's cloth, flaunts in striking colors and modern angles figures from the world of sports. Carrying a strictly masculine air, and suitable for drapery or hanging it is adaptable only for the haunts of men.

"Homage to Emily Dickenson" is a controversial in effect: approval or disapproval lies with the reviewer. A cotton velvet in dark blue and shades of blues and pinks, the hues and figures create a hazy impression.

STYLE REVUE IS HELD BY Y. W. C. A.

Special Music, Tap-Numbers
Feature Program in Patterson Hall; Students
Show Models

SILVER COINS DONATED

The Charm School, led by Mrs. Frank L. McVey, one of the three Y.W.C.A. interest groups, entertained with a style revue and silver tea from 4 to 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Patterson Hall recreation room as a culmination of its work during the last six weeks.

Outstanding feature of the tea was a revue of models from a number of Lexington shops, worn by the following members of the class: Neil Montgomery, Edith Marie Bell, Elizabeth Ann Ewing, Billie Maddox, Louise Barton, Frances Dye, Rita Wathen, Cora Wesler, Marjorie Fleber, Justine White, Betty Davis, and Martha Lowry. They displayed the latest work in fashion for sports, afternoon, dinner, and evening clothes, riding habits, furs, and lounging pajamas.

Included in the program were two tap-dancing numbers by four girls selected to represent the tap-dancing class conducted by Georgianna Weedon. The girls were Virginia Ruffner, Mildred Schaffner, Florence Kelly, and Linda Wilson. They were accompanied by Marjorie Hemmick at the piano.

Special music for the program was arranged by Lois E. Neal, music director of the Y.W.C.A., with Flora Knight, pianist, Frances Penn Miller, violinist, and Jessie Wilson, soloist.

Mrs. Frank L. McVey, Miss Sarah G. Blanding, dean of women, Mrs. Sarah B. Holmes, assistant dean of women, Eleanor Smith, president of the Y.W.C.A., and Augusta Roberts, university Y.W.C.A. secretary, were in the receiving line.

Invitations were extended to all women students, members of the university faculty, and wives of members of the faculty. The silver coins, donated by the guests of the revue, will be used to further the work of the university Y.W.C.A.

Beauty Winner May Be Announced Dec. 5

Measurements of Entrants Must Be Submitted to James Lyne

The winner of the Kentuckian beauty contest probably will be announced at the Kentuckian dance on December 5, Jimmie Lyne, feature editor of the annual said Wednesday. Proofs have been submitted to the photographers and when the prints are returned they will be sent, together with the measurements of the contestants, to Florence Ziegfeld, judge of the contest.

Measurements of the contestants must be submitted either Monday or Tuesday to James Lyne at the Kentuckian office. It is essential that the measurements be submitted by that time in order to complete the material that must be mailed to the judges. The candidates must also bring the measurements to the office personally in order to give other necessary information to the editor.

The following measurements are necessary: height, weight, neck, bust, waist, hips, thigh, calf, ankle, upper arm, lower arm, and wrist. Forty-six entrants are in the contest. Eight of these will have full page pictures in the book. Of these eight, one will be chosen as winner of the contest.

AG. SOCIETY TO MEET

The Agriculture society will meet at 7:30 Monday night in the Agriculture building. Prof. W. S. Webb, head of the physics department of the College of Arts and Sciences, will be the principal speaker.

Frosh Member Of Men's Group Is Granted Vote

By a three-fourths favorable vote the Men's Student Council of the university repealed a clause of its constitution which prevents the freshman representative from voting at a meeting which was held in the Administration building at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

In the past the president of the freshman class has held a seat on the council but has not been permitted to vote. To change the constitution a three-fourths majority of the participating councilors is required. The change goes into effect immediately, and as a result, James Barney, recently elected freshman president, will vote on all questions which come before the council.

Other matters which came before the council Thursday afternoon were the problems of drinking among undergraduates and theater rushing. It was decided that the most stringent penalties would be imposed on all students guilty of disobeying the regulations against drinking at university social functions.

The matter of theater rushing was discussed and it was decided to bring future offenders before the council for disciplinary measures.

Freshman regulations were considered and it was voted to bring to give a first-year man violating restrictions before the council for action.

Other routine matters came before the council, which adjourned at 5 o'clock. The next meeting of the organization will be held in the Administration building at 4 o'clock, the second Thursday after Thanksgiving.

PAINTINGS ARE EXHIBITED

Many excellent reproductions were among the works on exhibition at the print show held in the art center Tuesday and Wednesday, November 17 and 18. The works were loaned by the International Art Publishing company, Detroit, meeting will be held December 1.

JANSON TO SPEAK AT U. K. TUESDAY

Head of Department of Political Science at Rockford College Will Talk on Norwegian Politics

ONE OF THREE SPEAKERS

Dr. Florence Janson, head of the department of political science of Rockford College, Rockford, Illinois, will be the speaker at a meeting sponsored by the International Relations club, an activity of Pan-Politikon, in conjunction with Alpha Sigma Pi, honorary political science fraternity which will be held at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in room four of the Administration building. Dr. Janson's subject will be, "Political Systems of Norway and Sweden."

The address by Doctor Janson on Tuesday is a continuation of the program of Pan-Politikon for the year. Her talk is in keeping with the subject, Scandinavia, to be studied by that organization this session.

Doctor Janson has studied extensively in Scandinavia countries, and is especially prepared to deal with the government of those countries. She received her Ph. D. at the University of Pennsylvania.

Miss Janson is one of the three speakers to be brought to the university by Pan-Politikon this year, who are from other states. The others are Sir Ben. Blessum, head of the Norwegian railways in the United States, and Ole Singstad, designer of the Holland tunnel in New York City.

Mr. Blessum has been in the United States for several years, and has lectured extensively on Norse topics in the largest colleges, by universities and museums throughout the United States. He was knighted by the King of Norway for his outstanding work in the interest of Norway, in the United States.

He will speak December 9 at a general convocation in Memorial Hall.

El Ateneo Castellano Holds First Meeting

El Ateneo Castellano, the Spanish club of the university, held its first meeting at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, in the recreation hall of Patterson Hall, for the purpose of organization.

The officers elected for the coming year were Banker White, president; Emily Hardin, vice-president; Hal Bencomo, secretary, and Dave Welsh, treasurer. The club will meet every two weeks. All students who have completed the first year of college Spanish are eligible for membership in the club. The next meeting will be held December 1.

Brethren! Sisters!

Vernon "Catfish" Smith—star of the University of Georgia football team, is a member of Sigma Chi. "Catfish" is an all-around athlete and is captain-elect of the 1932 basketball team. Bob Zupke—famous University of Illinois football coach, is a member of Kappa Sigma. George C. Butte—vice-governor of the Philippine Islands, is a member of Alpha Tau Omega. Alpha Delta Theta ranked first in scholarship at the University of Southern California last year. Herbie Kay—whose orchestra is heard daily over WGN, Chicago, is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Alpha Gamma Delta was the first sorority at McGill University. The installation took place in 1930.

RADIO ARTISTS WILL PERFORM

Four Musical Organizations to Appear on Charity Program at Kentucky Theater
Tuesday Night

The performers on the staff of radio station of WHAS will appear in the charity program given at the Kentucky theater for the benefit of the unemployed, at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday night, November 24. Among these are the Blue and White orchestra with Hilda Cooper, soloist; the Mountain Melodians, composed of James Gatewood, Bob Atcher, and Ed Harrison; the Ace and Deuce string band; and the Four Horsemen quartette.

Besides these, others from the city of Lexington will perform on the program, according to Herman Bamberger, manager of the Kentucky theater. Dick Garland, will be the master of ceremonies.

The Ada Meade theater plans to take part in the unemployment benefit by offering a show Tuesday night, November 24. The Opera house will also give a benefit performance.

All the money taken in at the performance at the Kentucky will go directly to charity, and the performers from the university will not receive any pay for their services. E. G. Sulzer, director of the band, states that it is the desire of the university to offer its services to charity.

The Strand theater gave a special show for the unemployment benefit Thursday morning, November 19. The Ben All also plans to give a show for a similar purpose in the near future, although no date has been announced.

JOURNALISTS TO BEGIN SESSIONS THIS MORNING

Representatives of 20 Colleges Arrive for Two-Day Meeting

LATE REGISTRATION MAY INCREASE TOTAL

Program Includes Business Assemblies, Luncheons and Dinner-Dance

More than 35 delegates representing 20 different college publications have arrived in Lexington for the annual convention of the National Collegiate Press association, which will be held at the university today and Saturday. Notices have been received from many others who have not arrived, as yet and the late registration is expected to swell the enrollment.

Plans for the two-day program have been completed under the direction of Prof. Enoch Grehan and Prof. Victor R. Portmann, of the Journalism department. Members of Alpha Delta Sigma, professional advertising fraternity, Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalistic fraternity, and Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalistic fraternity, are assisting in the presentation of the program.

Early returns indicate that the east, middle west, and southern section of the country will be well represented, with the western delegates being fewer in number. Vermont and Tulane represent the farthest points north and south, while Creighton University, Omaha, Nebraska, and the University of North Dakota are sending delegates from the west.

Pre-convention reports indicate that the meeting will be largely masculine, since only three schools have sent feminine delegates to Kentucky. Mississippi, Iowa, and North Dakota are the three states so represented.

The meeting will open at 9 o'clock this morning with an address of welcome to the visiting members by Pres. Frank L. McVey. The remainder of the morning will be devoted to the business of the convention.

Dr. Arthur Braden, president of Transylvania College, will speak to the assembly on "The Press in the Changing World." Other speakers on the program include Tom Wallace, editor of the Louisville Times, who will speak on "The Coming Newspaper," and Prof. Enoch Grehan, head of the department of Journalism at the university, who will discuss "Editorial Responsibility." Prof. Victor R. Portmann will lead a discussion on "Typography and Make-up."

Other features of the program include a banquet at the Phoenix hotel, which will be given by the Lexington Leader and the Lexington Herald, a theater party through the courtesy of the Kentucky theater, and a dinner-dance Saturday night at the Lafayette hotel. Saturday afternoon the delegates will be taken on a sight-seeing tour through the Bluegrass, where they will visit scenic and historic points of interest.

Members of the committees who have charge of the convention program are:

The Blue and White Orchestra Will Play For SuKy Tea Dance

The Blue and White orchestra, WHAS radio artists, have been engaged to play at the SuKy tea dance November 21. It was announced Tuesday at a meeting of SuKy circle held in the university gymnasium.

The dance, which will be the first of the year, will be held in the afternoon from 3:30 until 6 o'clock in the Alumni gymnasium, according to an announcement issued by Lois E. Neal and Alice Lang, who are in charge of the arrangements.

That the football fans will not have a wildcat to incite them to cheers at the Tennessee game was decided at the meeting. The animal which the circle intended to purchase is in Arkansas and would not arrive in time for the Thanksgiving classic. Because of this the organization decided to do without one until the beginning of the next gridiron season.

Plans for the sale of refreshments at the last home game of the year also were discussed. In order to accommodate the record crowd that is expected to attend, an additional refreshment stand will be erected on the north side of the stadium. This, according to the committee in charge of the sales, will help to relieve congestion usually experienced during the halves of the football game and will also enable the try-outs for the circle to give better service to the fans.

GREETINGS

It is with a great deal of pleasure that The Kernel expresses its happiness over having as the guests of the university department of journalism the delegates to the convention of the National College Press Association. We are indeed honored in having the editors and business managers of so many collegiate publications in attendance for this convention, and we hope that it will be within our power to make their stay in Lexington an interesting and delightful one.

Many times have we expressed our belief in the value of conventions but, upon this occasion, we are able to appreciate even more fully the benefits which cannot but accrue from such a gathering. We are sure that we, who are responsible for journalism at the university, will profit from those with whom we will come in contact, and we know that the standards of our own campus publications cannot but be raised as a result of this meeting. The knowledge that the delegates to the convention hold something of this same attitude is all that is necessary to our complete satisfaction.

We are sure that those who will attend this meeting have heard of Kentucky hospitality many times, and it is our intention to make this oft-repeated story of southern graciousness a reality. Plans have been drawn which should make the convention an enjoyable one for every delegate, but, if there is something the delegates desire which has not been planned, we hope that it will be within our power to arrange it for them. We hope that every guest will feel no hesitancy in asking any service of any of his hosts, and we are positive that no one of the hosts will feel any hesitancy in fulfilling these requests.

Thus, with a cordial exchange of greetings, may we begin a convention which will be both enjoyable and instructive; entertaining and beneficial.

WILDCAT SPIRIT

Spirit which has been evidenced by members of the Wildcat football squad during this week has been better than any shown so far this year. An attitude of confidence and optimism seems to pervade the Big Blue battle ground, and although everyone knows the strength of Tennessee, it nevertheless is accepted generally that Kentucky CAN defeat the Volunteers.

Coch Coach Gamage has said that Kentucky can defeat Tennessee, as have many other close observers of the Wildcat team. If Tennessee is defeated it will be due to the spirit which the team has. May every member of the student body acquire the same attitude toward the game with the powerful Vols, and, when the two teams meet on Stoll field Thanksgiving Day, may we offer all the support and enthusiasm which can be wrought up for the team.

It generally is accepted that a defeat over Tennessee makes any football season a success. The season thus far, although it can not be termed successful, has not been bitterly disappointing. Until now the 'Cats have played a more or less mediocre game against more or less mediocre teams. The Kernel believes that the Big Blue has a great deal more than it has shown, and that the spectators at the game Thanksgiving Day will see a rejuvenated, powerful Kentucky eleven in action against an ancient, honored opponent.

BENEFIT SHOWS

Students of the university undoubtedly are ardent theater-goers, and, at present, this love for the cinema may help a great deal in relieving the suffering of those who will be unemployed this winter. Benefit shows which will be given by Lexington theaters should be patronized by every student who can arrange to attend them, for with this attendance students will be assisting in relief work at no real cost to themselves.

The benefit show is perhaps the most painless method of gathering relief funds which has been proposed, and it cannot but be a decided financial aid to the various relief agencies of the city and county. In contributing to the work which has been undertaken by these societies in this way, the public is permitted to help without actually giving anything. The prices for the entertainments are the same, the entertainment which will be offered will be just as good or better than the usual offerings, and the opportunity to contribute seldom presents itself in so pleasant a way. Even if students feel that they cannot contribute to the relief funds, they at least can attend one or more of the benefit shows.

IS FOOTBALL FOR THE STUDENTS?

If the theory that the game of football is played for the students of the institution from which the team is drawn is practiced at the University of Kentucky it is hardly understandable that students should be afforded so little opportunity to see the contests. So far this season undergraduates have been crowded into one end of the stadium, and at the Duke affair, many of them were forced to sit in the bleachers at the end of the field.

Naturally the athletic departments desire to profit as much as possible from the sale of seats for the football games, but when this profit is made at the expense of the students themselves we believe that some change should be made. It is entirely logical that the persons most interested in the team and who most desire to see the games played by the team are the students. If we have not yet accepted football as a big business instead of a sport, and if we are of the opinion that the game still belongs to the undergraduate, then it seems perfectly obvious that students should have the first opportunity to witness the games which are played on Stoll field.

With conditions the same as they have been for the Tennessee game we again will be reminded of the story of the money-minded father, who, when a rich stranger came to his city to visit, put his sons out of the house in order that the foreign gentleman might have adequate board and lodging. To give students the less desirable seats, and to place outsiders in the more advantageous positions is following a philosophy quite similar to that of the grasping parent.

A MEDICAL SCHOOL FOR THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY?

Editor, The Kernel:
The University of Kentucky has made rapid improvement in the past 10 years and now offers many opportunities to its students. The pre-medical work at the university may be ranked as among the best. Students from this institution have made outstanding success in some of the leading medical colleges of today. It so happens that there is only one medical college in the state of Kentucky at the present time, and that is the University of Louisville. That school readily accepts pre-medical students from the state university, but why not have a medical school of our own? The question arises: Can the university afford the additional expense? Certainly it can, but it will take hard work and many dollars to establish it the proper way.

A new building would be necessary, thousands of dollars worth of equipment would have to be bought, and accomplished instructors acquired. The additional opportunities offered by a medical school would increase the value of the university 20 per cent. At the present time, the University of Kentucky offers only one line of professional training, and that is law. If the law school can be a success, why not the medical school?

The state institution would be able to offer its students a course in medicine at a much cheaper rate than the private schools. One of the main reasons why more students do not attend the medical schools than do, is the tremendous expense. If the University of Kentucky would establish a grade A medical school, not only its value would be increased, but likewise its service to society. This question should be considered from every angle, and it is the duty of everyone concerned to work toward this end.

Tigerly,

LOVE AND FRIENDSHIP

We call it "friendship," you and I.
And that is just as well:
But there's a bit of Heaven astray—
A little, too, of Hell.

And if you were to say "I love you,"
And I to answer the same:
Could we play as skillfully, I wonder,
At that other sort of game?

Would you know how to sound the deeper notes
And touch new chords awake?
for you
When the first illusion breaks?

Could I in my turn, keep the rules,
And cling to my topmost heights?
How well, when the heart is laid bare at last,
Should I weather the days and nights?

There's a great high mountain between us still,
And these thoughts we are thinking now;
While the far side calls us, yet
threatens too—
Just over the mountain's brow.

Only a word to whisper;
A look, one move of the head:
And two loose the art of friendship
That hangs by a silken thread.
Would life grow richer for saying the word?
Or for leaving it unsaid?

PARTING REQUEST

You may keep the things I gave you . . .
Things like laughter and dreams,
Silks and laces and orchids too,
Verses and stories, realms!
Opera cloaks and moonbeam nose,
Diamond pendants and rings,
And things like that—you can keep those—
But there are other things!
The night you tiptoed on my toes
To tie a perfect bow . . .
The time you found a trampled rose
And cried to see it so . . .
The time you gave my first kiss
(You said, "Don't be a dunce!")
I have all these, and I have this,
You really loved me once!
So keep the silks and diamond rings,
But, dear, before we part (You've grown so careless with my things),
Please . . . give me back my heart.

The week's worst joke: "Just a Kernel headline: "Justice Elect-

Shakespeare said, "What's in a

After watching those frosh play
Saturday, one wonders at the name
"Kittens."

And after a sorority open house,
one also wonders—

Kernel feature gurgles, "Get Out trouble is that too many students reverse it—they get under the influence of moon, and then go out.

And why not a fight to the finish between Smythefield and any two

It perhaps would interest our innumerable readers to know just which of the socialites the lady regards with favor. The list herewith offered is taken from the ette's person records, which have been opened to us:

Clay Brock, Bill Humber, Billy Hubble, Duke Johnston, Bentley Sampson, Red Davis, Johnny Sagar, Jacq Robey, Kay Mickey McGuire, Spooks Milward, Waller Jones, Ross Morgan, Paul Williams, Squirt Denton, Warren Dennison.

It perhaps is noted that Deltam from the bottom Derek Smythefield's name does not appear on the list. This so infuriated the gentleman that he almost decided against running it at all.

We bring you now the second of a series of communications addressed to this department. It is our intention to have a letter from every organization on the campus before the year is over. That is, of course, if we can so far receive the co-operation of every organization on the campus to carry out this program. And now, the Kadies:

It is much to our displeasure that we find it necessary to lower ourselves to communication with a broken-down political burn-out, but our charitable nature calls upon us to enlighten, not those who have their hearts at their feet, but those who harbor their minds there. And now, my dear bourgeoisie ignorante, we shall attempt to enlighten the portals of your minds (since it is beyond our highest hopes to penetrate the inside).

Professor Rannells Gives Lecture on Art

Talk Is Special Feature of Study of Scandinavian Countries

"Scandinavian Art" was the subject of the illustrated address given Wednesday night in the lecture room of McVey hall by Prof. E. W. Rannells, head of the art department. The lecture was given as a special feature of the regular course of study of international relations sponsored by the Women's club of the university, the American Association of University Women, and Pan Politikon.

Professor Rannells gave information concerning painting, sculpture, and architecture of Norway, Denmark, and Sweden. In the Denmark crafts, he showed slides of sculpture by Kai Nilsen. Views of Royal Copenhagen porcelain, Danish silver, and Swedish glass also were shown.

For Norway, the sculpture of Gusti Wigeland was illustrated, and for Swedish sculpture emphasis was placed upon the works of Carl Milles. Mr. Milles is at present in America executing commissions.

The spectacular paintings of Prince Eugen, of Sweden, the animal paintings of Liljorfs, and selected painting by Zorn were among those exhibited.

In the show of reproductions of Swedish architecture, the town hall of Stockholm was one of the selections shown. In the Art League Show in New York last spring, Sweden was honored by being the only foreign country invited to show in the architectural exhibit.

A formula to end "Mother Hubbard buying"

Bare "cupboards" or overstocked ones — are costly in any industry. In the Bell System a safe margin of telephone supplies must always be on hand to assure continuous, efficient service.

Telephone men attacked this problem of distribution in a scientific spirit — studied every angle of purchasing, shipping, warehousing, costs, methods. There emerged a mathematical formula. From this, tables have been developed showing just how much of any item should be stocked to meet requirements most economically. Result: investment in stock is kept low — turnover is speeded-up — 99.25% of orders are filled without delay!

The working out of this formula is typical of the thought Bell System men give to improving the telephone art in all its phases.

The Spanish Club of the University, Ateneo Castellano, held its first meeting of the year, for the purpose of organization, at 3 o'clock Tuesday in the recreation room of Patterson hall.

Plans were made for meetings on alternate Tuesdays, at the same time and place. It was also decided that all conversation at and concerning the club would be conducted in Spanish, with a fine for breaking the rule. Officers for the coming year are:

Baker White, president; Emily Hardin, vice-president; Hal Bencom, secretary, and David Welch, treasurer.

The SuKy circle will entertain with a tea dance from 4 to 6 Saturday in the men's gymnasium. The Blue and White orchestra will furnish music.

The dance is in charge of Misses Lois Neal and Alice Lang, and Mr. Ted Cassidy, and the chaperones will be Mrs. E. F. Parquhar, Mrs. Slade, and Miss Marguerite McLaughlin.

The committee in charge of the Collegiate Press Association convention, which is being held on the campus will entertain the delegates with a dinner dance from 6:30 to 10:30 o'clock, at the Lafayette hotel.

Chaperones will be Prof. and Mrs. Enoch Grehan, Prof. and Mrs. Victor Portman, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Griffin, and Miss Marguerite McLaughlin.

Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalistic fraternity, will meet Monday evening with Miss Marguerite McLaughlin, at her home on East Maxwell street. Miss Mary Alice Salyers will preside at a business session, after which a social meeting will be held.

Agriculture College Represents Many Sections of State

The enrollment this semester in the College of Agriculture at the University is comprised of students from 74 Kentucky counties, six other states and one foreign country, according to the latest report issued. Of the counties represented, Fayette has the largest contribution with 14 boys and 27 girls. Fayette is equalled by Boyle in interest in good farming, the latter county having 14 boys studying agriculture.

Of the six counties bordering Boyle, only Lincoln and Garrard have boys enrolled in the college. However, girls from Washington, Mercer, Casey and Marion counties are studying Home Economics.

Authorities of the College of Agriculture are pleased with the number of students from eastern Kentucky as previously there have been very few from that part of the state. In that district there are students from Perry, Pike, Magoffin, Knott, Bath, Estill, Lewis, Knox, Harlan, Greenup, and Breathitt counties.

Other states sending students to the college are Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and Virginia. The foreign country represented is Russia.

The report shows a slight decrease in the number of students enrolled this semester as compared with the number last semester. However, many counties are entering the study of agriculture due to the work of 4-H Clubs.

ROAMIN' THE RIALTO

with ROAMIN' RENA

The Kentucky theatre has announced a presentation for the benefit of the local unemployed at 10:30 o'clock. There will be a stage show and the Blue and White orchestra will be featured. This is a nationwide movement to help the millions who are out of work. It will certainly be a help to Lexington. We feel that the students can do much to help in this fine piece of work and are certain that they will do their part.

At the Strand starting Sunday we find Laurel and Hardy pulling their tricks in a full length feature entitled "Pardon Us". These two "short" artists bring their grimaces and noble dumbness into the precincts of a prison. Here besides being unbelievably clumsy they insist in indulging in the raspberry gag. June Marlowe is cast as the female attraction or the warden's daughter in this Metro film.

RKO-Pathé is finding the replacement of Robert Williams a tough job. Williams was rehearsing with Constance Bennett in "Lady with a Past" when he was rushed to the hospital for an emergency appendix operation. The appendix burst before the operation was completed and Williams died at the Hollywood hospital November 3. This actor, who started his theatrical career on a Mississippi river show-boat, had made a firm place both on the stage and on the screen.

The Ben Ali's Thanksgiving feature beginning Saturday is a thriller of the submarine laded seas of the World War days. "Sulside Fleet" tells how schemes to sink enemy U-boats were formulated and carried out. Bill Boyd, Robert Armstrong, and James Gleason appear as the hard-boiled gobs and show their usual escapades with women. The film is directed by Albert Rogell and RKO-Pathé has used very realistic sets and thrilling scenes.

Estelle Taylor visited Boston's city hall recently and as she was leaving stopped to sign the visitor's book. Upon glancing at the signature of the last visitor she observed that the name was Benny Leonard. Handling the pen back to Mayor Curley she said, "After all these years with a heavy-weight, you can't expect me to sign with a light-weight."

Metro brings us "Squaw Man" with Cecil B. De Mille at the directorial helm and Warner Baxter with a fine supporting cast on the other side of the megaphone. "Squaw Man," opening at the Ben Ali Saturday, should be a splendid production with all that to recommend it. The play by Edwin Milton Royle was first produced in New York in 1907 and has been popular ever since. In the supporting cast are Charles Bleckford, Lume Velez, Eleanor Boardman, and numerous others.

PEPY'S DIARY

Tuesday: Up to attend my classes that were terribly boring. I did see THORNY HELM who admitted he was the handsomest man on the campus. I did stop to talk to LUCY SHROPSHIRE, then we did walk to the DEN OF ENIGMITY, where the collegians were discussing the late edition of the paper which contained SCANDAL and news. I did see PAUL WILLIAMS and HILDA COOPER, who were talking the nothings of the day. I did hear that JIMMY HAYES had gone in the cat business, especially when BETTY BOARD did ask him to buy one—or she made him do it. I did see BETTY KING and MILDRED HART sipping their cokes and eyeing the boys as they entered. I did dine with friends and we did discuss the mugs and muggettes of the campus. I did see LAWRENCE JUDD escorting EVELYN TREBUS to the movie and I did think that he was courting too much of late. I did go to the Kernel office where I did see LILLIAN WARREN and Metro has signed John Barrymore to appear with his brother Lionel in "Arsene Lupin", which should really make a show. The reported price stipulated by John for the picture is $250,000. Lionel, of course, is a contracted Metro star.

HAZEL BAUCOM hard at work. I did see PHIL ARDERY working under his big brother WILLIE.

I did join friends at the CHI OMEGA house. CARLEN GRANT and CAROLYN RAY were the shining lights of the afternoon, especially among the freshmen who had adorned the doors of this home of courtiers or lovers. I did chat with FISHER about the type of student on the campus. I did sup with friends in the evening and did read the college paper. I did think that DAUGHERTY'S articles were very good. I did talk to loafers about the pool room until I grew tired. So to bed.

Wednesday: Up to dress and be at my classes which did think came too early. I did see GENE HINDMAN was strolling with a damsel as usual. I did see BRUDGIE CUNNINGHAM with VIRGINIA DOUGHERTY, and he did seem to pour sugar with great success. I did see JACK ROGERS with SEBELDA BISHOP, and I did think that he liked a variety. FINCH HILLIARD and AL KIKEL were very hot in discussion and I did wonder what they did speak of. I did visit the Kentuckian office where I did see BILL HUMBER and MICKEY (SAE) MAQUIRE hard at their tasks. Sleep was my entertainment of the afternoon. In the evening the freshmen had to be paddled of which I grew weary. Thence to bed.

Thursday: Up to be about my work. I did see JUSTINE WHITE and FRANK STONE riding, but I did think that they would not come under the head of LOVE BIRDS, as BETTY OREAVES and SAMMY WOOLDRIDGE, or MARY MOORE NASIH and KIRK MOBERLY. I did see NANCY BELLE MOSS and her beloved, RICE SMITH, enjoying each other's company.

Never parched, never toasted CAMELS are FRESH in nature's own mild way!

EVERYONE knows now that Camels are the fresh cigarette.

If inquiry went deeper, it would reveal that Camels are the natural moisture cigarette.

That's important, because in handling fine tobaccos, when you process out natural moisture, you sacrifice freshness and flavor too.

Camel smokers needn't worry about that, because Camels are blended of fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos that are never subjected to violent processing. They need no parching or toasting to make them smooth, palatable, cool.

That's why the Camel Humidor Pack is such a boon to Camel smokers—it preserves the freshness, flavor, natural moisture, fragrance that are in this fine cigarette to start with.

Camels are fresh in nature's own mild way, and if you want to see what that means in unalloyed smoke-enjoyment, switch to them for just one day—then leave them, if you can!

WILDCATS PREP FOR TURKEY DAY GAME

FRESHMEN FAIL TO IMPRESS BIG BLUE IN DRILLS

Preparation For Game With Tennessee Rats Delayed To Favor Wildcats

By SUNNY DAY
Since Coach Pribble's freshmen's next and last game, with the Tennessee "Rats" is not to be played until the Saturday following Thanksgiving, the Frosh have given themselves over to entertaining the varsity Wildcats during the past week.

On Tuesday, after the varsity had run against the Kittens with good gains, the freshmen were put on offense to demonstrate some Tennessee plays. In the running of these plays, Jean, Barney, and Cotterell were aided by Backfield Coach "Spinner" Campbell. End Coach Baldy Glib, and George Yates Campbell has scouted Tennessee several times this year and is thoroughly familiar with a great many of the plays. "Spinner" took the part of the versatile Gene "Wild Bull" McEver, and the "Cats" had a hard time stopping him; in fact Campbell scored the only touchdown of the afternoon. Taking the ball at the halfback position, he climbed over center, eluded the secondary, then showed the Wildcats his heels and crossed the goal line standing up. His success was short lived, however, for the Big Blue showed its defensive strength on the following plays, and the freshmen and their aides were stopped dead.

Wednesday the Kittens were on defense more than offense, but in spite of all they could do, the "Cats" two teams gained consistently. "Big George" Yates, converted into a halfback, stretched out his long legs, showed a real halfback hip motion, and galloped for three touchdowns. E. L. "Hot Shot" Asher, reserve halfback, did his share of the ball totting, and on more than one occasion made gains that resulted in touchdowns. Sparks, Kitten halfback who received a cut over his eye in the game with the Western Frosh last Saturday, was in there fighting while Barney and Jack Jean were taking a rest.

Toward the end of the practice period the freshmen tried Tennessee plays, but without their assistants of the day before they were unable to gain. Even the dreaded passes that are used by the Vols failed to gain. Not a single pass was completed against the Big Blue and most of them were intercepted. Coach Gamage was so pleased that he dismissed his players shortly after five o'clock, and the Frosh, after a turn around the field, were also sent to the showers.

Wildcats Who Plan to Trim Vols

We May Be Wrong

The Dopester picks them the way he thinks they will finish. The Wildcats will win, maybe. The rest are conjectural but should run as he figures them.

By TOTSY ROSE

It seems to be all over but the shouting in the Southern Conference football race; at least this week Tulane and Tennessee are safe bets to stay at the top of the heap. Tulane has an easy game with Sewanee and Tennessee has an off day preparing for its last game of the season against Kentucky on Thanksgiving Day. Tulane has but one more conference opponent to hurdle in order to finish the season undefeated, and that opponent is none other than its traditional rival, Louisiana State.

In selecting an opponent for Southern California in the Tournament of Roses why not let Tennessee and Tulane battle it out in a big charity game, thus killing two birds with one stone? This game would certainly draw one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a game in the South. Tulane will naturally object to this contest because, at present, the Green Wave is the logical choice for the other team in the Rose Bowl classic; however, if the Southern Conference officials would ask permission to stage this charity game it seems only natural that the directors of the Tournament of Roses would give their consent. This game could be held on a neutral field any time after December 5, as Tennessee plays Kentucky November 26, and Tulane closes its schedule against Washington State at New Orleans on December 5.

We must now stop dreaming and return to the games that are billed for this week in the conference. Most of the teams are having an off day tomorrow in order to prepare for the big Turkey Day games next Thursday. The most important game will be between Tulane and Sewanee, although this game will be far from interesting. The Green Wave should have little trouble in downing Sewanee, as the Tigers have only a great fighting spirit to stack up against the powerful Tulane eleven.

The Georgia Bulldogs should return to the win column at the expense of Auburn. It is unfortunate that Georgia's hard schedule dulled their performance against Tulane last Saturday, but regardless of the outcome of that game the Bulldogs have one of the most powerful teams that the South has ever produced. (Continued on Page Five)

TWENTY PLAYERS SURVIVE RUPP'S FIRST CUT

With four weeks of arduous practice behind them and only four more weeks before the opening game of the season, 22 fighting varsity basketball players are working out daily under the watchful eye of Coach Adolph Rupp.

A cut made the early part of the week has let Coach Rupp with 14 upperclassmen with whom he will work until the end of the football season. At that time several football players will join the squad and a second cut will be made to keep the squad down to approximately 20 men, who will be carried all season.

"The sophomore material this year is promising. Though the boys lack experience, they are showing unexpected strength," Coach Rupp said.

"Frenchy" De Moisey, six foot four inch sophomore, has replaced Sale, substitute center last year, on the first team and seems one of the best of the new men. Sale has been shifted to forward and Kleiser to guard. Sophomores who are showing up well in scrimmages are Hughes, George and Blair. Nelson and Judd, who have reported for basketball this year for the first time, show signs of strength.

Within a week or two the varsity players will start their scrimmages with the freshman team and the varsity plays will be given their first real pre-season test.

Members of the squad who survived the last cut are: Smoot, Moisey, De Moisey, Bell, Davis, Crump, George, Helm, Sale, Oaks, Nelson, Settle, Yancey, House, Hoperton, Hughes, Judd, Blair, Kleiser, Little, Maguire, and Nelson.

FALMOUTH TEAM, PURPLES WILL PLAY HERE

The Purples of the University High school will conclude a successful football season Friday afternoon when they meet a powerful Falmouth team on Cassidy field at 2 o'clock. The game will be the feature event of the high school homecoming program.

The schedule played by the Kempermen included only six games with one game remaining to be played, but so far the season has been very successful. Early in the season the team was not conceded a chance to come through the season with a majority of wins. Lack of an adequate practice field and weight handicapped them considerably, but in spite of a bad start against Irvine, which they lost 6-0, they came back and copped the next three starts and tied Versailles, in a scoreless fray Armistice Day.

The playing has been heads up all year. The aerial route has been utilized to the fullest, and it was due to the brilliant passing attack at the waning minutes of the Springfield game that the Purples won by a touchdown margin. Versailles outshined the locals, but always came back with a fight that kept the play from being one-sided. As the final minutes fled during the Armistice Day game, Little, quarterback, called pass after pass that rushed the ball from the shadows of the University High goal line to the Versailles goal where the gun popped as a Purple receiver dropped a pass as he stepped over the line.

Falmouth has a splendid record to uphold as they take the field against University Hi. They have scored as high as 121 points against a single opponent this season, and at least 50 points in all the other games with the exception of the Maysville game in which they were singled 6-0. Versailles won over Maysville 6-0, which figures University High six points to the good over Falmouth.

"Petey" Kemper, Purple coach, has been drilling reserves in regular positions all this week in an effort to build up some material for substitutions should the need arrive. He has been greatly handicapped all year by lack of reserve material. (Continued on Page Five)

Kelly and Kercheval Must Break Up Vols' Over Head Offense

By RALPH E. JOHNSON

Kentucky has always been a dark cloud on Tennessee's horizon, for no matter how bright prospects might be for Tennessee, Kentucky would rise up on Thanksgiving Day and smite them down. Only desperate effort saved them from complete submersion in these last few years.

Last year the football world rather expected Bobby Dodd, peer of quarterbacks, to trick Kentucky into a defeat. He did that, but not once did the mighty Vols crash the score column via the touch down route. But in Kentucky there is an Irishman named Kelly who is spending his last year for Kentucky in a football uniform. Here in Kentucky and elsewhere those who knew expect him to turn the tables on Tennessee. Kelly doesn't outsmart them—he just outruns them.

However, all of that is a bit off yet, and more startling things are happening in the Wildcats' camp than can be safely neglected. Shifts and changes are being made in the first team line-up in an eleventh hour effort to shape up a team that will click against one of the very best teams in the country.

Kercheval is ready to play halfback if the need arises, and Phillips will step into the fullback berth to fulfill his obligations without a moment's hesitancy. Kelly remains at left half back where he has functioned for three years.

During Wednesday's scrimmage George Yates was shifted from end to half back, where he turned on full steam for the afternoon. He raced the length of the field for a touchdown the first chance he had at the ball. Twice he repeated his first thriller. This is not the first time that Yates has been in the backfield, for last year he did a turn at that post quite successfully. The new back field shift causes him a little trouble, but the natural grace he possesses will aid him in overcoming that handicap.

Early in the week Coach Gamage called his men about him for a good bawling out and a talk on possibilities. He said, "Kentucky can beat Tennessee on Thanksgiving. Our line is better from tackle to tackle. They have the best ends and a wonderful passing attack."

"Vanderbilt's line outweighed, outplayed and outcharged Tennessee," Gamage continued. "But two of the Vanderbilt backs were laying down, and during the last half they folded up altogether. They let the pass receiver get behind them. Kentucky's salvation is to develop backs who can stop that passing attack, and we're going to do it."

To do this Gamage will probably depend on Kercheval and Kelly, as they have proven most dependable to date. Kercheval has a hard assignment. To him goes the brunt of the line-plunging, punting, plus his share of the passing attack defense.

When the frosh were run against the varsity Tuesday with the aid of Glib, Campbell, and Yates, they scored one touchdown, when Campbell ran over center and eluded the entire first string. After that they were crushed under the weight of the Wildcats' charge.

Bill Luther has replaced Seale at center, but Seale will probably see action against the Volunteers. Both Urbanak and Johnson appeared on the field this week in uniform, but they did not enter into the scrimmage. Stanley Bach took things easy pending a thorough examination of his ankle. Aside from the above mentioned members of the squad everyone is sound.

Number 13 Causes No Fear In Florida as Game Nears

GAINESVILLE, Nov. 18 — The number "13" holds not anxiety or fear for members of the 1931 University football squad. Despite the fact that their Thanksgiving engagement with U. C. L. A. at Los Angeles, California, marks the 13th intercollegiate football contest for a Florida team, the current edition of "Fighting Gators" believe they can uphold the South's reputation for winning.

Al Romero, star Florida halfback, whose passing and kicking will doubtless be a big factor in the "Gator-Bruin" melee Thanksgiving, predicted the exact score of the recent Tulane-Georgia game, and Al feels that Florida will defeat U. C. L. A.

Florida has not fared handsomely in her past intercollegiate gridiron tussles, and it was not until 1930 that the "Gators" were able to win a foreign battle away from Dixie soil. Florida has never dispatched a team as far West as California, although the "Gators" penetrated the expansive state of Texas seven years ago, playing the only life game that appears on the record of intercollegiate tilts.

While the "Gators" have never shown at home or abroad in competition with a California team, a Florida vs. Pacific Coast engagement has been staged. Two years ago the University of Oregon traveled over 4,000 miles to meet Charlie Bachman's troupe, and they were beaten 20 to 7 before a colorful Miami audience.

The result of Florida's dozen intercollegiate contests shows four victories, one tie and seven defeats. The 1916 game with Indiana is often referred to, for the "Gators" that year in counting a field goal proved the only team to register a point on the Hoosiers.

Coach Campbell To Play With Alabama Stars For Charity

John "Spinner" Campbell, Wildcat backfield coach and member of the champion University of Alabama team of last year, will be a member of a team of former Red Elephant stars that will play the teams of Georgetown university, Catholic university, and George Washington university each in a 20 minute game to be played in Washington, D. C., December 12.

Besides Campbell, all of the members of the team that drubbed Washington State in the Rose Bowl last New Year's day will be on hand for the game with the exception of the ones who have not yet completed their careers at the Tuscaloosa institution. Sington, Clements, Elmore, Suther, Mettlight, and others will appear for the fray. The only member of the team who will be missing is Jimmy Moore who died of spinal meningitis last summer. The seniors on this year's team Smith, Long, Sharpe, and Whitworth will also participate.

The place at which the game is to be played in the capitol city has not yet been decided upon, but will probably be played in Griffith stadium. The teams who will meet the Red Elephants of former days are from the teams of the present season.

Several stars from the team that visited the Rose Bowl in 1926 will be on hand to make things interesting for the members of the current teams at the District of Columbia organization.

Florida Football Squad Embarks For California

Gainesville, Nov. 19 — Florida University's most colorful football adventure, and the longest trip ever undertaken, got underway Thursday when the "Gators" embarked for Los Angeles, California by way of Atlanta, Ga., where they stopped for a day to meet the Georgia Tech team. Immediately after their four quarters on Grant Field Saturday, the "Gators" will be hurried to the central station with departure for the far West scheduled at 6:05 p.m.

The Florida party has a little more than an hour at New Orleans Sunday morning. The next stop will be at El Paso, Texas, late Monday afternoon where a brief workout is planned for the team by Coach Bachman. Arrival at Alhambra, just outside of Los Angeles, is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, and the team will hasten to Rose Bowl for the first of two workouts prior to the game with U. C. L. A. Thanksgiving. Wednesday's drill will be at the Los Angeles Coliseum, where the contest will be played on Thursday.

The return trip will start at noon Friday November 27. An all-day stop at the Grand Canyon will be observed on Saturday. The "Gators" reach Kansas City Monday and will workout at the league baseball park. Tuesday afternoon in Birmingham Coach Bachman will put his boys through a light drill.

Wednesday afternoon the squad will be back at home for the first of three practices before their final engagement of the year against the University of Kentucky at Jacksonville.

With more than two score alumni of the university residing in Los Angeles and nearby California cities, the Florida party will be gaily received and entertained while on the coast. W. E. (Bill) Jones, president of the California Alumni Club has made elaborate preparations.

While no definite word has been given out, it is said that a number of Florida alumni and friends of the university will join the "Gators" for their western adventure.

but he has been lucky thus far. Besides using reserve material in practice Coach Kemper has shifted regulars to different berths. Fisher, regular center, has been working out at end while Elder, who has been out with injuries, works at center. Brooking fullback, received a badly bruised back in the Versailles game and probably will be on the sidelines Friday.

The work of "Rabbit" Little has been indispensable all season, due to his running, kicking and passing. His powerful line smashes has resulted in many first downs for the locals; his passes have won at least one game, and his drop-kicks have added points consistently. In Dave Griffith, Coach Kemper has a dependable player. His running is not on a par with Little, but his blocking is superior, as is his tackling. Hilliard, captain and end, has been on the receiving end of Little's passes all year. Without the work of this fleet end the Kempermen would have suffered at least one defeat. He was responsible for the complete reversal of a touchy situation during the Versailles game when he intercepted a forward pass, that most certainly would have scored had not the alert captain been there. He returned the intercepted pass about 50 yards before he was brought down from the rear. He, as well as the two aforementioned, play their last games for University High Friday afternoon. Elder and Olney are also seniors.

duced "This game will produce some real football, as Auburn is no set up for any team. However, we expect Georgia to win in a hard game."

North Carolina and Duke will clash in an inter-state battle at Durham. Duke means less than nothing in games between these two eleven. Neither team has flashed any real football this season but North Carolina has put up some mighty fine battles against first class opposition. Duke has been one of the largest disappointments in the conference this year. Much was expected of the Blue Devils under Wallace Wade, but his football machine never seemed to click as it should. We expect the Tar Heels to win an exceedingly close game from Duke.

Florida will meet Georgia Tech in a game that appears to be a toss-up, both teams have been badly battered by tough opposition all season. Tech has won only one game this year while the "Gators" have been victorious in two of their contests, we believe the engineers will break through for an unexpected win over the Florida "Gators."

North Carolina State is favored to down South Carolina. State's decisive victory over Duke last Saturday gives them the edge over South Carolina, although the game should be a hard close battle.

Our selections for the week:

Co-Ed Rifle Season To Begin Tuesday

Tryouts for women's rifle team, the only intercollegiate sport sponsored by the Woman's Athletic Association, will begin officially at 7 o'clock Tuesday night with the annual mass meeting of all women students who are interested in the sport and wish to try out for the team. Capt. W. A. Cunningham and Major Owen Meredith will have charge of the sport and are scheduled to speak at the meeting, which will be held in the women's gymnasium and outline the course of practices.

Practices for those trying out for the team will begin December 1, and thereafter will be held Tuesday and Thursday afternoons on the rifle ranges in the basement of the women's gymnasium. Preliminary practice in form will precede the practice firing, at the conclusion of which the squad will be selected from those who have made the highest scores during practice. Captain Cunningham will coach the team, assisted by members of the men's varsity and R. O. T. C. teams.

The team annually shoots telegraphic matches with colleges and universities throughout the country. Matches for this year already have been scheduled with the University of Washington, Louisiana State University, the University of Michigan and the University of South Dakota, and challenges will be sent to other schools by Georgia Bird, student manager of the sport.

The team last year won seven out of 11 matches shot during the season.

Book Exhibit Shown By Selection Class

"Round the World Book Fair" is the theme of the exhibit which the class in "Book Selection for High Schools" has been showing for the last week in observance of National Book Week. The exhibit features Scandinavian books in accordance with the program being put on by Pan-Politon this semester.

The exhibit, which is displayed in the library science study on the third floor of the library, is divided into three parts. The first table, which is under the direction of Miss Alice Durling, is devoted to juvenile books for the elementary school library. The second table, in charge of Miss Louise Jefferson, shows Scandinavian literature for students from junior high school age to adulthood. The back wall exhibit, under the direction of Miss Rosa Fudold, gives the Newbury prize books, outstanding juvenile books of the year, and books of adventure and travel for junior and senior high school students.

Miss Mildred Semmons, of the library science department, directed the preparation of the exhibit, and Miss Frances Bethel is general chairman.

The exhibit will continue today and Saturday, and the public is invited to visit it.

Tribal Tourney Ends Field Hockey Season

Culminating six weeks of practices, the annual field inter-tribe hockey tournament was held Wednesday and Friday afternoons on the woman's athletic field. Miss Rebecca Averill, director of women's athletics, and Laura K. Johnston, assistant in the department of physical education, were in charge of the tournament games.

Monday a match was played between a team composed of the Apaches, Sioux and Ojibwas against the Kaws, Hopis and Crees. The game ended in a 1-1 tie and the match was called on account of darkness. The tie will be played off at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Wednesday's match was played between a lineup of the Apaches, Kaws and Hopis against the Ojibwas, Crees and Sioux. The former team won the match 6-1.

The hockey tournament ending the period of early fall sports, volleyball is scheduled to begin at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, November 23. Practices will be held thereafter every afternoon and will culminate in an inter-tribe tournament. All university women are eligible to participate.

Jacq Robey to Head Radiophone Bureau

With the inception of a new plan at the university extension studios of WHAS, Jacq Robey recently was appointed director of the Artist's bureau of the studios by Elmer J. Sulzer, director. Mr. Robey will have charge of booking talent for the radio programs.

The Mountain Melodies program and the Fine Arts program will receive special attention from Mr. Robey, who plans to complete arrangements for the bureau in the near future. Organizations using talent similar to that which is available at the studios will receive communications describing the performers of the studios, and every effort will be made to book performers for outside programs.

ADDRESSES LAW COLLEGE

Dr. Charles J. Turck, president of Centre College, will address the faculty and students of the law college on "A Program of Better Government in Kentucky" at their regular weekly convocation at 10 o'clock this morning in the Law building.

University Officials Will Go To Southern Conference Meeting

Coach Harry Gamage, S. A. "Daddy Boles and Dr. W. D. Funkhouser will represent the university at the Twelfth Annual Meeting of the Southern Conference which will be held December 17, 18, and 19 in New Orleans, Louisiana.

On Thursday, the opening day of the conference, a dinner will be given by the New Orleans Athletic club. Discussion of the business of the conference will begin on the following day with C. L. Hare, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, acting as president. Other officers of the conference are C. P. Miles, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, vice-president, and W. D. Funkhouser, University of Kentucky, secretary-treasurer. One of the principal addresses of the conference will be made by President A. B. Dinwiddie of Tulane University, of Louisiana.

The Southern Conference was organized in 1920 at Gainesville, Florida, for the purpose of forming a compact organization of those southern institutions which were progressive enough and numerically large enough to adopt the rules and regulations long in force in the north, east, and west. Meetings have been held annually, and the forthcoming meet marks the twelfth year of its existence.

DIETZMAN WILL SPEAK

Phi Delta Phi, honorary legal fraternity, will be host to the students and the faculty of the Law College at a smoker to be given Tuesday night, December 15, in the Law building. Chief Justice Richard Priest, Dietzman of the Kentucky court of appeals will be the principal speaker of the occasion. All members of the Law College are cordially invited.

ENGLISH CLUB TO MEET

Chi Delta Phi, national woman's literary fraternity, will have charge of the English club meeting at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon in 111 MeVey hall. Rabbi Lawrence Kahn will be the speaker. At the business meeting afterwards, election of officers and pledging exercises will be held.

Arbor Day Was First Celebrated In Switzerland, History Reveals

Kentucky Celebrates Holiday Today by Governor's Proclamation

By ROBERT H. MCGAUGHEY
"He who plants a tree, plants a hope" are the well-known lines of a poet who understood the importance of a tree in this universe. Everyone does not visualize the aspect of the tree in this manner, however, and with no serious thoughts in mind chop down the primeval agent from its stately position. It is for this reason that the forests, which once covered the earth in arborial abundance, are now so scarce that wood is becoming a very valuable resource.

One day, although in late season, people awoke from a seemingly deep reverie and started a conservation of the forests by the planting of trees. Thus a day has been set aside by the government of the United States for this purpose. The holiday is now commemorated as Arbor day, and Governor Sponsoring has issued a proclamation designating Friday, November 20 as Arbor day in Kentucky.

"I summon to a public duty the forward-looking men, women, boys and girls of Kentucky and urge each and all of them to observe the day by each planting a tree or trees somewhere," the governor said.

Although this holiday is one of the newest of our national holidays, its institution is merely the revival of an ancient custom. It is said that the Aztecs of Mexico always planted a tree when an infant came into the world, and gave it the child's own name. There is a similar custom of long standing in certain parts of Germany where the members of each family plant trees with appropriate ceremonies at Whitsuntide, 40 days after Easter.

The most interesting story concerning the planting of trees is connected with the Swiss people, who, in the fifth century curiously instituted an Arbor day. It seems that the people of Bruggs, a small Swiss town, assembled in a council and decided to plant a forest of oak trees upon the commons. The first rainy day thereafter, they began their work, each citizen punching a hole in the ground with a cane or stick, and inserting the acorn in it. Then the ground was pressed firmly in against, and the task was done. But the acorns never sprouted, although everyone received a wheaten loaf for the services rendered.

Next, the planting of acorns in furrows was tried, but, again, all their labors were in vain. It was then that they conceived the idea of transplanting the saplings of oaks. This time the trees grew and the people were so well pleased that they instituted the day of transplanting a national holiday. The exact veracity of these legends is not known, but it is manifest that the idea of Arbor day did originate in America. American representatives in Europe found that efforts were being made by foreign countries to retain their forests; thus the conservation ideal was instilled in Americans.

The official father of the conservative movement in this country was J. Sterling Morton, afterward secretary of agriculture during the second term of President Cleveland. It was in the year 1872 that he, then a member of the Nebraska State board of agriculture, suggested the setting aside of a certain day during the year for the planting of trees. His suggestion was readily accepted, and on the day named people of the state were asked to plant trees.

A prize of $100 was offered to the agriculture society planting properly the largest number of

Fourth Musicales of Series Is Planned

Hans Merx, German Baritone, Will Present Sunday Program Here

The fourth in the series of Sunday afternoon musicales to be presented in memorial hall at 4 o'clock November 22, 1931, will be given by Hans Merx, German baritone. He will be assisted at the piano by Miss Caroline Pike, Georgetown College.

The program will be made up entirely from the works of German composers. Mr. Merx is recognized as an outstanding authority in the interpretation of the German lieder. He has appeared at leading American universities, and always has won immediate acclaim for his superlative artistry. He is making a special trip from New York City for this recital and an invitation to all lovers of German music to hear his program is extended.

The program:

- I. a. Der Wanderer—Schubert. b. Der Lindenbaum—Schubert. c. Liebesbotschaft—Schubert. d. Ungeduld—Schubert.

- II. a. Bitterkeit—Hugo Wolf. b. Das verlassene Magdlein—Hugo Wolf. c. Allerseelen—Richard Strauss. d. Kom mwir wandeln—P. Cornelius.

- III. New German Folk Songs by Herm. Lons.

- a. Das bittersusse Lied. b. Rose in Schnee. c. Dehinton in der Heide.

- IV. Popular German songs of the present day.

trees and a library worth $25 was offered to the person who did likewise. So much interest was shown in the movement that the governor of Nebraska issued a proclamation setting aside one day in the year as Arbor day. Many interesting, as well as propitious results were noticed year after year, and, in due time, other states began to inaugurate similar movements.

In 1876, Michigan and Minnesota recognized the holiday, as did Ontario, Canada, in 1877, and New York in 1888. Soon other states followed in the movement, and today, there is a wide-spread celebration of the day. Spain, influenced by the action in America, instituted a holiday in 1896 called "Fiesta del Arbol," which means "tree festival."

The holiday is generally observed in the spring, but in many states the date of observance is formally proclaimed by the governor, the time ranging from January to December. Everyone is urged to celebrate on that day thoughtfully, for in due time the need of trees to the nation will become serious. It is not what is used that counts so much, but that which is wasted constitutes a useless hazard. It is said that in Germany there exists a law which states that for every tree removed, another must be replaced. Truly, this is an example of the intellect predominant in the German race. Yet each day there is found among the people of this country those who, with the eye completely shadowed with greed, destroy acres of timber, thoughtlessly. The time will come when the nation will feel the results of this error, but it will be too late unless there is a prodigious augmentation of interest revealed in the planting of trees on Arbor day.

son To him visualizing its romance the execution is ideal; to the matter of fact spectator, the tone is dusty, faded, and even revolting. Women will appreciate it more readily than men.

Prints suited to the atmosphere of period rooms are "Essex Hunt," "American Scene," and "Manhattan." The first, on unbleached muslin, is executed in black on a white ground, with yellow, green, and a bit of red relieving the severity. The liveliness of the hunting scenes and the sweep of the design gain rather than lose by the textile folds. "American Scene," more conservative in general tone and color, but rich in portrayals of modern life, is done on homespun in shades of blue, rose, and yellow, with black on a natural ground.

"Manhattan," on cotton voile, featuring the sophistication and the cosmopolitan life of the machine age, is printed in plain—almost severe—black on white ground, with red and blue. The print has all the charm and simplicity of an etching.

"Dinette," executed on percale with red on white ground, is surprisingly refreshing after consideration of the other textiles. Its plainness of execution offers restful relief.

Other textiles designed by Ruth Reeves are "Flower Americana," a fine-weave cotton; "Still Life," a cotton velvet of subdued coloring, and "Polychrome," a pre-creped cotton.

Another outstanding, at least compelling, textile is one designed by Henriette Reiss and executed by F. Statz. Its undulating curve, printed in shades of green, provides an intriguing contrast with the other exhibits. Its fascinating waves of color fold well and the whole effect is of a downy blanket's warmth. Therefore, it is rather disappointing to find it executed on a thin cotton goods.

Another Henriette Reiss design similar to the first is done in blue and white on a fine weave cotton textile. This print, executed by the Pepperell Manufacturing company, features sharper curves and contrast and is less distinctive. A red flowered design, with blue-grey leaves, and black is exhibited by the same artist. The impression created is one of warmth and sentiment.

Among the woven designs showing, Donald Desky's is the most remarkable. This abstract floral motif, executed on coarsely woven cotton, is suitable for curtains or draperies. The colors are browns and yellows.

Juanita Todd's "Montrosia" is one of the most restless and disturbing textiles in the collection. Bristling in hot-colored serrations and cotton velvet, the print must remind many students of some exotic caterpillar. Nevertheless, in some surroundings the design would provide the necessary touch of warmth and color. Another "Montrosia" by the same designer is adaptable to either hangings or upholstery. Wide green stripes with a modern abstraction of green vine provide the motif. Uneasy, like its fellow, this print does carry a delightful coolness.

Other designers represented at the exhibition are Leslie Mark, H. B. Lehman, Ann Siler, G. M. Franke, Gordon Brown, and Dorothy Bird Trout.

The art center galleries are open week days from eight until five o'clock, and Sunday from two until four o'clock.

Wesley Carter Is Selected Head Of Announcing Staff

Wesley E. Carter has been selected head of the announcing corps of the radio staff of the university extension studios of WHAS to take the place of Harold G. Ritter, who resigned recently due to ill health. Mr. Carter's assistants will be William Ardery, Burnam Pearson, and Roscoe Stephens.

The chief of the operating department will be Harris Sullivan, assisted by Gregg Starks and Edward Barlow. The studio will be entirely equipped with condenser microphones within the next two weeks. One of the microphones is already in use.

Among the musical features being broadcast at present are the fine arts program featuring David Young, violinist, accompanied by Lela W. Cullis at the piano, and Helen Stark and Bernie Matson, pianists, Monday; the Blue and White orchestra with Hilda Cooper, soloist, Tuesday; the mountain melody program featuring James Gatewood, Bob Atcher, and E. Garrison; and the Ace and Deuce string band, Wednesday; the Blue and White orchestra, Thursday; and the Phi Beta musicale, with Loretta Bitterman in charge, Friday.

Those desiring tickets for these broadcasts may call for them at the publicity bureau. Admission to the studio for a radiocast is granted only on presentation of a permit.

Rannells to Give Lectures on Art

Prof. Edward W. Rannells, head of the art department, will give an illustrated lecture on Scandinavian art at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and a second lecture at the same time Thursday in room 314, of the library. The illustrations will be lantern slides of architecture, sculpture, and painting of Norway, Sweden and Denmark.

Practice Begins for Stroller Floor Show

Acts are in Rehearsal in Preparation for Dance, November 28

Practicing for the first time in the women's gymnasium last night, the chorus for the floor show which will be presented at the Stroller dance Saturday night, November 28, was directed by Georgianna Weedon. Other acts for the show are being prepared under the direction of William Ardery, Stroller director. Ann Thomas Denton, who directed costuming for the Stroller revue last spring, has been placed in charge of costumes for the floor show, which will begin promptly at 9:30 o'clock. Members of the social committee are at present hearing various orchestras in rehearsal in an effort to select the best one for the dance.

In addition to the chorus presentation Dot Day and Mary Elizabeth Rentz will do a specialty number. An effort is being made to enlist a vocal soloist for the show, but as The Kernel goes to press, one has not been selected.

Members of the pony chorus probably will be selected from the following:

Alice Jane Howes, Virginia Young, Sue Layton, Virginia Hollis, Justine White, Madlyn Shively, Marjorie Weaver, Dot Kelly, Jean Dawson, Jane Corbett.

College Dislikes Notre Dame Scheme

Memphis, Tenn.—The action of officials at Notre Dame University in promoting a Rockne Day at all college and university football games in the country for the purpose of collecting funds for a memorial house at Notre Dame, met with disapproval in at least one college.

Robust Son Born To Mrs. Gene Tunney

New York, Nov. 18.—A robust son—his first one fortune in leather and another in steel—was born today to the Gene Tunneys.

The first child of the retired heavy-weight boxing champion and the former Polly Lauder, Carnegie heiress, weighed more than seven pounds, and was described as an exceptionally healthy youngster.

Four hours before the son was born at 9 o'clock this morning, Mrs. Tunney was brought to the Sloane hospital at Columbia university's medical center.

Both mother and son were "doing perfectly," said Dr. Benjamin P. Watson, director of the hospital. Smiling his satisfaction, Tunney remained nearby.

McVey To Address Students' Mothers

Meeting Will Be Held Tuesday Afternoon In Memorial Hall

Pres. Frank L. McVey will speak at the second meeting of the town mothers and relatives of students at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the Memorial building. He will discuss the responsibility of town parents and students toward the university.

A musical program is being arranged by Phi Beta, honorary women's musical organization. Miss Emily Hardin has charge of this feature, and she has chosen the following program:

Will O' The Wisp.....Nevin Evensong.....Martin Elizabeth Hardin Evening Star, "Tannhauser," Wagner Evening Star, "Tannhauser," Wagner Lois Robinson

After the formal meeting the mothers will be guests of Miss Sarah G. Blanding, dean of women, for tea in the faculty club rooms on the third floor of McVey hall.

At a former meeting held in October, only the mothers of women students were invited, but at this meeting the members of the administrative staff who are arranging the program have issued invitations to mothers of men students also.

No written announcements are being sent, but all town mothers are asked to take this notice as an invitation, and arrange to be present

FOSTER FOSTERS PIGSKIN!

University students were dumbfounded at the first of the week when "Cuzey" Foster was seen crossing the campus cuddling a brand new football in his arms. Foster carries this implement of the gridiron at the command of Harry Gamage, football chief at the university, and Coach Gamage hopes the loving of said football will cure "Cuzey" of his butterfingerness.

Foster is more than a nurse-maid to the oval, he is more like a mother or a brother, because he stays with the bright yellow pigskin all the time, even sleeping with it. To every class he takes his pigskin friend, and amid the titters and guffaws of the co-eds and male students blushing carries his emblem of torture with the courage of many previous generations of Wildcat forebears.

As a punishment for his frequent fumbles in practice and in games this novel form of punishment was introduced by Gamage to enable him to make a first team back of Foster, who, barring this one bad habit, is a most capable ball carrier. Foster must carry his ball all the rest of the football season, but in witnessing Foster carrying the "yaller" colored pill around, do not censor him, for he is doing his duty.

SORORITY TEACHES DANCING

Lawrence, Kan.—There's a new sorority at the University of Kansas, an honorary dancing sorority. They hold sessions before football games and "teach the eds and co-eds to dance."

Have You Visited the ? Cafe?

"They keep tasting better and better to me!"

Every Chesterfield is like every other one. No matter how many you smoke, the last Chesterfield of the day is just as smooth and sweet—as cool and comfortable—as the first. They're milder, too! Chesterfield uses only mild, ripe, sweet tobaccos—the smoothest and ripest that grow.

Notice, too, how white and fine the paper is. It's the purest that money can buy.

All this care...to make Chesterfields taste better—to make them milder. And millions of Chesterfield smokers say it in their own way—"They Satisfy!"

GOOD...they've got to be good!
